Primary peritoneal hydatidosis revealed by an abdominal mass in a case report

Published On: March 20, 2023 | Pages: 001 - 003

Author(s): Erguibi Driss, Fadwa Azhari*, Hajri Amal, Boufettal Rachid, Saad Rifki El Jay and Farid Chehab

Hydatid cyst is caused by the parasite Echinococcus granulosus commonly found in temperate regions. Primary peritoneal hydatidosis is a rare entity. Diagnosis can be made with ultrasound and contrast-enhanced CT of the abdomen and pelvis and serology. Eosinophilia is a strong indicator of hydatid cysts as a differential diagnosis. Open excision of the cyst combined ...
